YOU complain to me, my dear sir, that, although utterly ignorant of law, you are constantly compelled to exercise your own judgment on legal points: that you cannot always have your solicitor at your elbow; and yet a contract for the sale, purchase, or lease of an estate, or, perhaps, even an agreement to make a settlement on a child's marriage, must be entered into off hand; and it is not until you have gone too far to retreat, that you learn what errors you have committed: that you are even at a loss in giving instructions for your will, and wholly incapable of making the most simple one for yourself: that, in a word, you have been plunged into a lawsuit, which a slight previous knowledge might have easily prevented. It is unquestionably a...
