Excerpt from Homes of Moderate Size: A Collection of Photographs and Plans of Modern Suburban and Country Homes, Following the Colonial, Italian and English Architectural Styles, and Arranged Accordingly I find that many people, mom particularly among those considering the erection of a small house, have a very vague idea of the services rendered by the Architect, and as this is a hook of small and moderate sired houses, it might not he amiss to devote a page or two to the duties and services performed by him. Briefly, the architect Inspects the site and familiarizes himself with the requirements of the family to occupy the house. He then prepares preliminary sketches, to a small scale, of plans and elevations, and when these have been worked to a degree of possibility, a perspective sketch or drawing is prepared to give the client; more comprehensive idea of the exterior appearance of the house as it will he. When these sketches are approved, working drawings, specifications and details are prepared. These are sent out for estimates to the general...
