This appropriation, made available by act of Congress in 1925, has for the first time made it possible for the Station to investigate such problems as the economic balance between production and consumption of food stuffs grown in the State, the trends of production, the costs of growing various crops under New Hampshire conditions, and the important marketing problems which during recent years have been of more and more concern to people interested in the agricultural welfare of the State. As a ground work for investigation of this type it was considered advisable to concentrate during the past year on the completion of an economic survey which we believe has the distinction of being the first state-wide survey of its kind that has been made in this country. The study reached into every section of New Hampshire, securing records from practically every retail store as well as a large percent of the hotels and camps. The results have already been set forth in Station Bulletin No. 222, Can New Hampshire Produce More of What She Eats? The study has raised several interesting questions; for example, it was found that over 300,000 bushels of potatoes, nearly half of those marketed in the state, are shipped in during the...
